Former Rev. Employee Receives DFC Award

S. Sgt. Fred Hilliard Home On Leave In Bonlee

Staff Sgt. Fred G. Hilliard, of Bonlee, a weaver at Revolution mill before entering the army in March, 1943, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by Brig. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, Jr., combat wing commander, at a ceremony held recently at a Liberator station in England.

Sergeant Hilliard, who also wears the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, received the DFC for extraordinary achievement in aerial combat. He is a gunner on a B-24 Liberator, heavy bomber.

He is now on leave at his home in Bonlee with his mother, Mrs. Rome O. Hilliard. His father died a few days before he arrived.

Proximity Girls Circle Elects Mrs. Archie Baynes President

The Young Girls' Circle of the Proximity Methodist church held the regular monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. D. Scott on Fourth street.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Jay Suttles, who introduced the speaker, Mrs. R. C. Goforth. Mrs. Goforth used "The Deaconess In a Strange Land" for her discussion. The group sang, "Wonderful Jesus" followed by prayer by Mrs. Goforth.

During the business session the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Archie Baynes; Vice President, Mrs. Lee Foy Suttles; Secretary, Miss Beatrice Smith; Treasurer, Mrs. Lacy Wyrick.

The group made a donation to the Bethlehem House for their Thanksgiving deed. Mrs. Lee Foy Suttles was appointed Secretary to Students for the entire Missionary Society of the Proximity Methodist church.

Following the report of the treasurer the quarterly pledge was made to Conference.

Mrs. Archie Baynes dismissed the group with prayer.

During the social hour refreshments were served and miscellaneous gifts were showered on Mrs. Pete Costner. Those present were: Mesdames Woodrow Hanner, Ernest Hobbs, Paul Holyfield, Ralph Ritter, Jack Hughes, Sam Rierson, Jim Baynes, Lacy Wyrick, Virgil Hodgin, Fred Marshall, Lee Foy Suttles, R. C. Goforth, Archie Baynes, Ney Wolfe, Al Moffitt, J. T. Suttles, J. D. Scott and Misses Willard Walker and Jerry Elkins.

Biblical Room Open Sunday Afternoons

The Biblical room in the White Oak-Revolution branch of the Cone Memorial YMCA will be open to the public each Sunday afternoon, November 26 to Sunday, December 31, from 2:30 to 5:30. Children under twelve years of age must be accompanied by their parents or some adult.

The room has been decorated for the Christmas season, and special programs of pictures will be offered for organized Bible Class groups from the local villages.

Miss Yates' Grade Makes Christmas Cards

Miss Elizabeth Yates' seventh grade at Ceasar Cone school is making Christmas cards to send boys and girls in the armed forces who at one time attended Ceasar Cone, Revolution or White Oak schools.

Those with members in their families to whom this applies should send the names and addresses to these pupils who will be glad to send them one of the cards they are making.

To the People of this Community

The best way to observe the defeat of Hitler is to buy an extra War Bond. In thousands upon thousands of American homes today there is pride and sadness. From these homes have come fighting men who died to bring us this far on the road to decisive victory over all our enemies. It will take more sweat, more tears, more toil, more and greater individual War Bond buying before we see Japan in the ruins these barbarians of the Pacific planned for us. How much more blood and tears depends on every individual American war worker and bond buyer.

The Sixth War Loan symbol—a bomb hurtling down on the Rising Sun—can only come to reality with your individual help. Buy at least an extra $100 War Bond above your normal payroll savings. That's the least you can do to back up your fighting men.

Dr. Kimmel Speaks To Ceasar Cone P.T.A.

Program Features Fathers' Night

That influence of men as well as that of women is needed in the school and in the home was stressed by Dr. Herbert Kimmel, of the department of Education at Woman's college, in speaking to the regular monthly meeting of the Ceasar Cone P.T.A. last Tuesday night, Fathers' night for the school.

Dr. Kimmel discussed many present day trends in education, primarily those relating to the absence of men from the profession.

Special music for the program was furnished by the chorus from Revolution Baptist church.

A money prize for having the most fathers present went to Miss Eunice Grubbs' room. Her room also won the first prize for grammar grades for getting the highest number of members in the recent membership drive. Second membership prize for grammar grades went to Miss Dovie Hayworth's room. Primary grades first prize went to Miss Ruth Lindley's room. Second prize was won by Miss Maude Pinnix's room. Miss Pinnix's room also won the attendance prize for having the most parents, both mothers and fathers, present at the Tuesday night meeting. Miss Maude Harper's room had the same number of parents present, but the prize was awarded on a percentage basis.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

BY JAMES PRESTON

The censensus in the capital is that Congress will remain independent, not subject to New Deal control during the next two years. It is pointed out that approximately 113 members of the Southern Democratic group can be counted upon to join the 180 House Republicans to oppose any "New Dealish" domestic measures, furnishing a possible 293 out of 435 members to line up against such legislation . . .

To a slightly lesser degree, about the same situation prevails in the Senate The Senate make-up is now 57 Democrats, 36 Republicans, and one Progressive, with two seats still in doubt. The situation in both chambers is interpreted to mean that Congress will have the power to block undesired legislation, but probably will lack strength to enact any legislation over a Presidential veto.

Sgt. Irie Leonard Completes 50 Missions

Is Now At Home Visiting Parents

"Give more credit to the crew," says Tech. Sgt. Irie Leonard, just back from 50 missions in the European theater of war, spending 22 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Leonard, of 1210 Twelfth street. He has spent over three months as an engineer - gunner on a Flying Fortress.

Modest and always flashing his contagious smile, the successful warrior insists that more credit should go to the crew of the Flying Fortress, since without them his work could not have been accomplished.

A member of the 15th army air force, Sgt. Leonard helped bomb the railroads at Montpelier, France, on his first mission last July. His 50th mission was in October when his group bombed the Skoda arms works at Pilsen, Czechoslovakia.

Graduate of Rankin high school, Sgt. Leonard was employed in the offices of Proximity Manufacturing company until time of his enlistment in the air forces in August 1942. He attended the air mechanic's school at Amarillo, Texas, and the aerial gunnery school at Las Vegas, Nev. He won his gunner's wings there in March 1943.

Sgt. Leonard was awarded the presidential citation after the last bombing raid by the group on Ploesti. He wears the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters.

Proximity Students Make Honor Roll At Senior High

It is always an honor to the school as well as the community and the individual, when a student enters another school and makes the scholastic honor roll. Adapting B-29 To Peace Use

Discussed and dreamed of, the "airplane of tomorrow" has now been flight-tested, and its details were revealed to technicians attending the international civil aviation conference in Chicago by the Boeing company.

The new air giant is a peacetime adaptation of the B-29. By employing most of the tools and fixtures used on the B-29, the manufacturers estimate that operating costs can be reduced to about two cents a mile. At the promised cruising speed of 340 miles an hour, it will be possible to leave New York after lunch and have a late dinner on the West Coast, at a fare between $40 and $50. The new plane will carry up to 100 passengers.

CONE MILLS CORPORATION FABRICS SERVICE

REVOLUTION

Greensboro, North Carolina, Friday, December 1, 1944

From The Fighting Fronts

According to General Eisenhower, our progress in this war is definitely being retarded by lack of supplies. From the information that has been released, the most critical item is bullets; however, it is further definitely known that certain textiles are critically needed in carrying on this war. Among these is tent twills, a fabric which is being made by two of the local mills and will be made by another very soon.

Not only is the matter of getting out the maximum production of tent twills important, but when looms are switched from other fabrics, as they have been and will be, it means that the quantity of other fabrics will be reduced and a most serious situation in connection with them results.

Due to the situation, it is imperative that a maximum production be attained from each machine, regardless of whether it is on tent twills or other fabrics.

Maximum production, of course, can only result by efficient daily operations. Each person is, therefore, patriotically charged with the responsibility of doing his, or her, best work each day.

The relationship between cards, spindles and looms is very, very close to the boys on the fighting fronts.

The most urgent appeal which is coming to us in industry is coming from the military authorities. They, and they alone, are in position to know truly just how important it is that our fighting forces have their needs satisfied.

So much has been said and written about the duty of our citizens to stay on the job and work efficiently that some of us may be inclined to look lightly upon a repetition of the same old pleas, but when we are definitely told that the progress in the war has suffered and is apt to continue to suffer because of lack of supplies, we cannot look lightly upon statements from those who are actually doing the fighting, and the present pleas are coming from them.

Attendance Report

November 13, 1944 - November 19, 1944

There are just three more weeks for earning that Christmas money—and for buying those extra bonds for Christmas present. This week, November thirteenth to November nineteenth, there are six departments with one hundred per cent attendance and eight others with better than ninety-five per cent. A little Christmas Spirit should get those percentages up for a record December attendance and lots of help for Santa Claus.

White Oak Weave Room couldn't get their report in so we have no percentage for the mill, but those two 100's opposite First and Second Shift Dyeing, look good. We shall hope for more like that next week.

Revolution is part way out of last week's slump but still isn't back to normal. Maybe this bad weather has been keeping some of their crowd home. Anyhow, Proximity was ahead of Revolution last week and is almost even with them this week.

Let's have a big Christmas. Let's be on the job every day we are able. Let's buy a bigger share of bonds for the "Big Push" our boys in the Service are carrying on. Let's do our part.

PICK-UPS
from Ceasar Cone School

All pupils had their pictures taken last week. The pupils may buy them if they are good and they want them.

Thanksgiving Day was a holiday for Ceasar Cone school. The classes were regular Friday.

The Glee Club is planning to sing for the Christmas play. It is led by Mrs. Hood.

The Sewing classes are making aprons this year. The leaders are Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Turner. Mrs. Steele has charge of Miss McKinney's grade. Mrs. Turner has Miss Yates and Miss Grubbs grades. Some of the aprons are finished.

Mae McGee's mother came over Monday morning to visit the pupils in Miss Lindley's second grade. She is one of the grademother's in that room. She is making two curtains for the auditorium windows. They think Mrs. McGee is mighty good to do that for them.

Robert Tippett has been out of school for several days. They hope his doctor will let him come back soon.

Shirley Spencer has six little pigs and she takes the lunch scraps home. The pigs are going to be mad if Shirley stays out of school and doesn't take those scraps home to them.

Miss Otwell's second grade's unit study at the present time is "Babies - Baby Folk and Baby Animals". As a climax to their study, they are having a chapel program the 30th of November. It will be a picture show of real and make-believe pictures of babies. Also there will be songs, and poems about babies. There will be more details of this after the program.

Their grademother, Mrs. John Webster is at Piedmont Memorial hospital for treatment. They hope she will soon be well again.

Miss Pinnix's third grade is having a war on "Hitler and Tojo". The following have bought war stamps to help buy bullets: Harold Moore, Cornelus Beverly, Sarah Lerree, Robert Sands, David Blake, Rebecca Payne, Inez Bennett, Nancy Laughlin, David Campbell, Dawn Barber, Betty Sue Manuel, Yvonne Kennett, Arnold Huffman, and Janice Crabtree.

The girls are way ahead of the boys in buying war stamps this week in Miss Schiffman's fourth grade room but the boys say they aren't going to let things stay that way. Most of the members of the class are earning their war stamp money by running errands, raking leaves and many other ways.

The Junior Audubon club held it's regular meeting Friday morning in Miss Schiffman's fourth grade. Plans were made for field trips. Pattie Sue Apple was in charge of the program which was as follows: Song, "God Bless America", by the whole class. Reading, the Red Winged Blackbird by Marie Brady. Study of the Red-Winged Blackbird led by Pattie Sue Apple.

David Coltrane in Miss McCook's fifth grade room got a $500.00 war bond for Mr. G. A. Flintom.

Miss Heffner's fourth and fifth grade room had a club Friday morning. The following officers were elected: President, Charles Smith; Vice President, Iva Pardue; Secretary, Patsy Haithcock.

Ernestine Sawyer in Mrs. Lineberry's fifth grade room has secured two $100 war bonds for Mr. Garland Flintom. Hats off to Mr. Flintom!

Miss Hayworth's sixth grade won second prize in the P.-T.A. membership contest with 116 members. The class was divided into two teams, the Red Birds against the Blue Birds. The Red Birds won with a lead of five. The losing side gave a party Thanksgiving, celebrating with the Red Birds. The class wishes to thank all those who helped them with their membership.

Mary Brown in Miss Gray's sixth grade has a new baby brother, Robert Lewis Brown. Mary Ellen McNeal has a new baby sister, Linda Jean. She will soon be three months old. Leatrice Yow, celebrated her 12th birthday, November 23, which was on Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. Gray's room ranked third in the P.-T.A. membership drive, having secured 111 members.

Mrs. Smith's sixth grade is happy to have Valley Weaver as a new pupil.

Miss Grubbs' seventh grade had an interesting talk by Rev. Dickson, Monday morning. His subject was the "Moon and Stars".

In Miss Yates' seventh grade war stamp campaign, Arnold Sams and Palmer Swink arranges the airplanes that carry each childs totals. Melvin Yow takes care of the morning reports on stamp purchases, and Bobby Honeycutt makes the airplanes. The four highest buyers in the room are: Palmer Swink, Melvin Yow, Clarence Brady and Minnie Lou Brown.

Please remember to bring waste paper to the school.

Plans Means Jobs

A $100,000,000 construction program for Union Electric Co., of St. Louis for 10 years after the war has been outlined by J. W. McAfree, president. "Our program will not only reemploy our own men and women now in the armed services but will provide hundreds of additional jobs in construction of new facilities," he said.

100th Helicopter Off Plant Line

More than 100 helicopters have rolled off the world's first helicopter assembly line at Brideport's Sikorsky division of United Aircraft.

With the 100th R-4B the plant reveals that production has been stepped up to five a week and that the new, larger, more powerful R-5A is soon to come off the lines. Sikorsky already has an order running into the hundreds for these. Also, experimental development and testing is going on on a still bigger model, the R-6, for which the Air Force and Navy have placed large orders.

"Now that we've hit the magic mark—and the first 100 is always the hardest—we have ironed out the most troublesome flight and production bugs and learned how to build this completely new aircraft," says B. L. Whelan, general manager.

A new patient at a sanitarium for the mildly deranged complained to the attending physician: "What's the idea sticking me in a room with that crazy guy over there?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said the doctor, "it's the only room available just now. Is your roommate troublesome?"

"Why, the guy's crazy. He keeps looking around and saying, 'No lions, no tigers, no elephants'—and all the time the room's full of 'em."

Jim: "Do you play any musical instruments?"

Tim: "Only at home."

Jim: "What do you mean?"

Tim: "Second fiddle."

Johnny: "Paw, does bigamy mean that a man has one wife too many?"

Paw: "Not necessarily, my son. A man can have one wife too many and still not be a bigamist."

An old gentleman dropped something on the floor of the theater and was making a great fuss trying to recover it. Finally a lady near him asked what he had lost.

"A chocolate caramel," replied the man.

"All that fuss over a piece of candy?" said the lady in a rather disgusteed tone.

"Yes," said he, "my teeth are in it."

Trains Talk on Run

Trains that talk on the run soon will be a fact on two of the busiest divisions of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Train telephones providing instantaneous and continuous telephone communication between moving trains and wayside towers, between engine and caboose, between train and train, are now being added to the safety devices already provided by the railroad in its search, typical of American industry, for the new things and better ways.

Then there was the school child who wrote on his examinaton paper: "Climate lasts a long time, but weather lasts only a few days."

Women's faults are many,
Men have only two,
Everything they say,
And everything they do.

Missionary: "Poor man, so you know nothing of religion?"

Cannibal: "Oh, yes. We got a taste of it when the last missionary was here."

Rastus and Sambo were on a transport going overseas.

"Just look at all that water," exclaimed Rastus, looking out across the ocean.

Buy A Part Of That Lease On Peace

By Bob Hope

HOPE

How do you do, ladies and gentlemen, this is Bob "Sixth War Loan" Hope, saying that once we put Hitler into a permanent trance, it won't be long before we kick Tojo right in his Japants . . . Here comes the Sixth War Loan, folks . . . monotonous, isn't it? . . . But not half as monotonous as the life those boys out there in those jungles are living . . . I guess nobody can tell us anything new about War Bonds. We've heard all the selling points . . . we know a $25 Bond buys seventeen steel helmets, or three gas masks, or ninety-eight first-aid kits . . . That a Garand rifle shoots an extra one-thousand rounds every time we pop for the $100 job . . . That it takes half-a-million bucks in gasoline to put one thousand flying fortresses over Germany. And don't think the U.S.A. is the only country where they sell War Bonds. They sell Bonds in Japan, too. Of course, their sales policy in a little different. If you're a Jap you don't buy a Bond, Tojo hisses at you through his front teeth. The only trouble is, there's only one hiss . . . The next thing you know you're a near Miss. But it's different in G rmany. In Germany a Storm Trooper comes around and says, "Do you want to buy a Bond?" And you say, "No, I don't." And he says, "Oh yes you do" and you say "Oh no I don't." And he says, "Quit talking, you're dead!" But no kidding, folks, we can have a little fun at the expense of the Japs and the Nazis, yet they're a tough proposition. The Germans are about as soft as the Siegfried Line and the Japs are no softer than those murderous miles of jungles our kids are fighting through. I guess it doesn't take many people to start a war . . . the tough part of it all is that it takes so many o finish a war. And we're still a long ways from that "finish." Our boys are still making that "72-hour" hop to the middle of th South Pacific. And they aren't wondering how to celebrate "V" Day . . . nor about that post-war automobile or buying a new home. No sir, they're wondering if that Jap mainland will be as tough as it's cracked up to be. They're wondering if they can make the change from a land where war is a kind of prosperous peace for many, to a land where war is Hell for all. You've heard that tired old wheeze, "Don't you know there's a war on?" . . . Well, that Father and Mother across the street who have a son down there in the south Pacific know there's a war on! And they're taking a hitch in the family budget . . . and buying more Bonds! Sure, we know it's tough to make the extra effort to buy another Bond, but it's tough to crawl up-hill under machine gun fire and then make those extra few feet to an enemy pillbox . . . And those boys didn't get paid extra for that, either. You don't have to be at the front to be fighting this war the American way. The Sixth War Loan helps our own at home, and our own who are overseas fighting for our home. It helps our Allies who are bearing their share of the struggle . . . and who in many cases are bearing more than their share of destruction and suffering. The Sixth War Loan is a "Must" . . . th "Must" our boys are fighting for. And brother, if they're willing to give their lives, the rest of us ought to be willing to lend our money. Let's all get a part of that lease on peace by doing our Sixth War Loan shopping early.

Warns Of Effect War Is Having On Family Life

"The family is growing feebler and feebler as a social institution," declared the Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Fletcher, D. D., speaking on Family Problems of the Future at the Diocesan School of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts. Listing economic defense, education and entertainment among the ordinary functions taken over by other institutions even before the war, Dr. Fletcher said, "For a long time the chief functions holding the family together have been love or affection, meeting the emotional needs of people. The war has broken homes so sadly that the future of the family probably depends upon our ability to restore the intimacy and attractions of family life, to reverse the present rate of divorce and to remedy maladjustments. There is actual dislike of family ties in many of our young people. The Christian demands for chastity and monogamy will save the family if we are united in our effort. If we fail, the family has no real future because it has no real function to perform."

Dr. Fletcher is a member of the faculty of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass.

Swift, Confident Leadership Is Urged By Keller

Calling upon industry for "swift and confident" leadership in the return to a healthy peacetime economy after the war, K. T. Keller, Detroit, president of Chrysler Corp., is proposing a four-point program to speed up reconversion so there will be no letdown in production and employment.

The program provides for these pre-reconversion steps which can be taken now without interference with the war effort: (1) advance decisions on clearing plants of war goods and machinery; (2) filling orders for peacetime machine tools when it can be done without holding up military orders; (3) allowing 100 per cent war plants to start reconversion now if it can be done without delaying war production; and (4) plans to remove war controls when actual conversion starts.

Asks Cooperation

Mr. Keller calls for willing cooperation between industry and government in carrying out joint responsibilities, but says each company head knows his own reconversion problems better than anyone in government. He urges industry to recognize that government may be either obstructive or helpful, instead of relying on government to get plants back into production. Emphasizing that jobs are essential to a healthy postwar condition, he says:

"Industry can do much to lead in the return to a healthy peacetime economy. It needs to strike out bravely, to face squarely its own problems, to take swift and confident action, without reliance on government, without fear of government or labor, or of stockholders, or of its own critics."

NEWS NOTES from Proximity School

Proximity juniors defeated Gillespie by a close score of 7 to 0. It was a hard-fought game by both teams but Proximity nosed ahead in the third quarter of play when Bill Patterson and Troy Stanley received good blocking by their line and carried the ball from their own 30 yd. line back down to their own 6, where Troy Stanley bucked the center of the line for the only touchdown. Proximity faked a kick and passed to Junior Weaver for the extra point. Outstanding players for Proximity were Patterson, Stanley, and Weaver; for Gillespie, George Cea, Connie Patrch, and Jimmy Finninson.

On Wednesday, November 8th an Amateur program was given for those who wished to take part. No one ever knew how much talent people had in Proximity school. The master of ceremonies was Archie Ammons, who carried the program out exceedingly well. The program began with the audience singing "Onward Christian Soldiers". Some of the songs were old and some were new popular songs. Some of the song were: "An Irish Lullaby", sung by Judy Elkins, Muxiel Mitchell and Peggy Morris accompanied by Mrs. Gavin: "Sweet and Lovely", sung by Marilyn Maness, Patsy Summers, Geraldine Lewey, Edith Stevens, and Arie Paris accompanied by Sharon Newnam at the piano. The "Missouri Waltz" was sung by a group of 7th grade girls, accompanied by Mary Lee Leonard, Sharon Newnam. One of the pianists of the school played "Schubert's".

Miss Stewardt's third grade is working on an Indian project. Just now they are studying about the Indians that lived in the Southwestern part of North America. They are drawing designs for blankets, rugs and pottery. They made vases from clay and expect to paint designs on them this week.

The Seventh grade (Miss Pugh's section) plans to have "Parent's Day" next Tuesday, November 28th. The purpose of it is to better acquaint their parents with their work at school. They also hope that it will further promote the spirit of cooperation between the school and home. A most cordial invitation to all parents is extended.

Grades Seven through Ten enjoyed a most inspirational Thanksgiving address by the Rev. Mr. J. A. Vache for the weekly chapel program. Rev. Vache, locally known as the "Village Parson", is considered one of Greensboro's leading civic leaders and is an able speaker. Both pupils and teachers feel that his Thanksgiving message was very timely, helpful and inspirational.

The Weekly Bible story for chapel, presented by Mrs. John Armfield to the two seventh grades on Tuesday morning are well liked by all the pupils.

Milk is being supplied to the school again this year by the Pet Dairies. Anyone wishing to get milk may see Miss Pugh.

Nation Depends On Industry's Research

The nation will have to depend on the research of industry and the universities to maintain the technological strength of our armed forces after the war, according to Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

The job of peacetime research is a private one, he said, and suggested as an addition to the four freedoms of the Atlantic Charter a fifth freedom of inquiry, experiment and research.

V - Day . . . Another Chance

By Robert D. Buel
Editor, Western Auto Mach. Screw Co. Roundup, Elyria, Ohio

We have thr e important days ahead of us. V-E Day - Victory Day in Europe; V-F Day - Final Victory; and last, but most important, and a day that will not be officially announced, V-P Day - Victory Problem Day.

The tests that V-P Day put us to in 1919 we flunked, and as a result, the causes of World War II were born. At th end of World War I, we acted as if it were a great football game that was over when the whistle blew.

On of our first problems is the one of understanding that we will have many problems. To list them all would turn this into a catalogue. But to realize that they are coming is very important. In a mental way, at least, we are r ady for them. We, in this country have missed the horrors of war on the home front, but we have also missed that understanding and conviction that goes with them.

The British working man knows that a bomb blast can collapse a man's lung at a hundr d yards and leave him dead in the street without any outward sign of injury. The war has had a unifying effect on the British people that we shall miss, but we can still, by reading and studying and listening, make up for this. What we will all have now, after victory is won, is merely what we threw away in 1919 —another chance.

The steel industry has perfected a light gauge steel which is expected to rival wood in the building of postwar homes. Developed for war needs, its use by the Army and Navy has saved "money and priceless time," according to industry spokesmen.

Send Photographs To Service Men Chaplain Stresses

Chaplain Robert Clingman, writes to the Army and Navy Commission of the Episcopal church begging that people send photographs to the GI's in the Southwest Pacific. Chaplain Clingman, whose father is Bishop of the Episcopal Dioc se of Kentucky wrote: "There was a time in college when I'd shake an envelope to see if there might be a ch ck enclosed. Now we do the same stunt, but don't want money—just hope that a picture will drop out. We spend hours looking at snapshots of each other's wives, kids, families and gal-friends. We probably know more about the oth r guy's folks whom we have never seen, than if we had lived in the same town. Do send your man photographs!"

YOU'D THINK AMERICANS STILL BELIEVE IN SANTA CLAUS

By Ralph Chandler
Editor, National Tank Co.
News and Views, Tulsa, Okla.

To read most of th post-war plans for a better world' you'd think they were written by Santa Claus for little children. This war is being fought for freedom from political oppression, not for freedom from work. It's time someone had the courage to tell this fundamental truth to Americans and the whole world:—as long as you have your health nobody is ever going to giv you anything; you are never going to have anything you don't earn by hard, efficient work.

The only time the laws of economics can be suspended is during a war . . . it's easy now for anyone to get and hold a job, wheth r or not he does it efficiently and earns his pay. That time is almost over, and no power on earth can prevent its ending. When the war peak has passed, th only man or woman who will hold a job and prosper and progress (whether the job is management, shop, office or—we hope—political) will be the on who understands that he can only be paid out of what he produces, and so will produce better in order to get better pay.

Post-war plans by gov rnment and groups are all right and should be made. But they will all be useless unless every individual American makes his own post-war plans and practices it now:

1. Spend today as litle as you can. You'll help keep prices down, you'll build your own reserve which is the only place any self-respecting American wants to look for help.

2. Get the habit now of maximum skill, efficient production, doing the best job you possibly can. Then you'll be in the ranks of those who will keep their jobs.

3. Plan now to hold your bonds until they mature. Do not cash them in unless you absolutely have to. Save them as a nest egg. Do not try to beat the gun. It will do you no good. For whether the bonds are in your hands or not, they will remain a mortgage against everything you have or earn. Better keep part of that mortgage yourself. Give the country time, under the right kind of administration, and it can pay your bonds without loss. No government on earth—or all combined—could meet a rush demand to cash with honest dollars (not greenbacks) $300 billion of bonds, or any large fraction thereof.

That's the post-war program for true freedom—the freedom of independence. And no American worthy of the name wants any other.

There are those who think a staggering national debt can be converted into a lovely national asset, and who talk of a big boom based upon the "purchasing power" represented (?) by government bonds. These are the modern Ponzis and Ivan Kruegers. I hope there will be post-war prosperity but if so, it will come only from the future wealth produced by men who work and sweat as they never did befor . The debt represents past wealth destroyed (or given away), and except for salvage items, will be nothing but a dead horse charge against future wealth.

Business Men Of World Conclude An Epic Meet

Mutual understanding of the business problems of the 52 nations represented at the International Business Conference just concluded at Rye, N. Y., should help build a warless, prosperous world through international trade, understanding and cooperation, the delegates agreed before departing for home.

The conference was attended by manufacturers, merchants, bankers, exporters, importers, and producers of raw materials from all parts of the wodd. Meeting under the joint sponsorship of the National Association of Manufacturers, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Foreign Trade Council, and the International Chamber of Commerce, the delegates recommended a six-point commercial policy that included lower tariffs, long-term treaties of commerce, and an international economic organization to supervise and coordinate national commercial policies.

NAM President Robert Gaylord said the conference—the largest meeting of the world's businessmen ever held—had been called because the sponsors believe businessmen can do much to make the coming peace permanent.

"The findings of the conference committees are not expected to provide all the answers," said Mr. Gaylord. "They ar , however, clearing away much misunderstanding, and the atmosphere of confidence, reason, and trust which has been established in encouraging."

Honey Is Helpful

If bottle feeding is on the docket for your baby, making the formula will loom in large letters on your daily work routine. There's no denying it, the first bout with the bottles may give you a fine set of fresh-home-from-the-hospital quivers. But, nurses for private baby practice being scarce these days, you'd better not count on professional help. Just be resourceful, and brace yourself with a personal plan of attack.

Your physician will decide on the amounts and the make-up of the formula. Usually this consists of a milk and water mixture bolstered by a little added sweet. This sweet, called a milk modifier, is needed to make formula milk equal in energy value to the sugar content of mothers' milk.

Baby specialists have discovered lately that honey is an almost perfect milk modifier. For honey is made up of two kinds of sugars—one called dextrose, and another known as levulose. And that is an uniquely happy blend for baby. For dextrose is already in a digested form. And levulose is easily digested. These invert sugars, relieve your new born baby's tender tummy of an extra digesting job. Another factor in its favor is the flavor and fragrance of good honey. Honey has a light sweet quality, a quick appetite appeal that babies savor with delight.

In adding honey to the formula, handle it just as you would any other modifier. Use it in the same proportions as corn syrup or sugar. And mix according to your doctor's regular instructions. Here is a procedure that will guide you:

1. Wash hands before collecting the equipment.
2. Keep separate all the equipment used in preparing the formula.
3. If bottled milk is used, wash the outside of the bottle with soap and water as soon as received and place in refrigerator.
4. When canned milk is used the top of the can should be washed thoroughly with soap and water. Pour hot water over top just before opening.
5. All equipment should be washed and sterilized just before using. (Wash thoroughly in warm, soapy water, rinse well, boil vigorously for 5 min.)
6. To make formula, take milk bottle from refrigerator, remove over-top cap. Remove inner cap without touching lip of bottle.
7. Have, already prepared, enough boiling water (3 minutes active boiling) to fill water bottles and make the formula.
8. Measure water for formula and pour into top of double boiler.
9. Add amount of boney recommended. Stir with spoon until dissolved.
10. Measure required amount of milk and add. Note amount of liquid in boiler. Place top of double boiler directly over flame. Bring to boil and boil 3 minutes.
11. Check evaporation and make up loss by adding boiled water from water bottle to make up required amount.
12. Stir formula while cooking.
13. Cool by placing in cold water bath. The bottom of the double boiler will do for this.
14. Fill each bottle with specified amount of formula, being careful not to touch the top of the bottles.
15. Cap and refrigerate until ready to use.

Form Air Arm Over The Farm

Oklahoma farmers and their wives have formed a flying group called the Flying Farmers, which uses planes to locate cattle, check fences for breaks, go to town for supplies, make emergency trips for repairs, and deliver light produce to market centers.

Recently 20 farmers and their wives from distant points dropped in on a meeting at the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, parked their planes on the field for a session, and went home with no interruption in their farms' schedules.

Urges Pay-as-Go Plan For Nation

If the pay-as-you-go system is good for the 50,000,000 taxed laborers of the nation, it is impreative for government, according to Lewis A. Dibble, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers' Government Spending Committee.

Suggesting a $17 billion national budget, he pointed out that the married $50-a-week worker with one child "is now handing out about $200 a year—a month's pay—to support federal spending. Such heavy taxes demand economy in government to the extent of a complete reappraisal of all its functions as to usefulness and necessity."

Mr. Dibble, who is president of the Eastern Malleable Iron Co., Naugatuck, Conn., contended "of late there has been a great deal of helpful tax planning, but we know that no reasonable tax policy can be developed until we know the spending policy."

Management Knows Its Responsibility

"Management has a sharp sense of its social responsibility and a deep personal interest in its employees," Walter B. Weissenburger, executive vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers, told 200 management representatives at a recent meeting of NAM's Institute on Industrial Relations.

Crosley Pledges 400% Job Gain

Crosley Corp., Cincinnati, manufacturers of radios, refrigerators and household equipment, has announced that it accepts responsibility for the employment future of a payroll 400 per cent larger than its 1940 labor force.

The firm has pledged that the future of each returning veteran will be given individual attention, with every effort to provide better jobs than formerly, and to train the disabled, with pay during training period.

A plan has been developed for assisting distributors and retailers to build postwar organizations, which will afford opportunities for refrigerator and radio repair men, stockkeepers, shipping clerks, sales and promotion people and a wide variety of jobs.
